

Religions Texas: Mapping Diversity

a consultation, January 26-27, 2017 at the University of Texas at Austin

MAPPING RELIGION IN A POST-SECULAR LANDSCAPE

a keynote talk with

Dr. Tracy Fessenden

Professor of Religious Studies, Arizona State University

Thursday, January 26, 2017 at 6 pm

Glickman Center, CLA 1.302E

Tracy Fessenden is Professor of Religious Studies at Arizona State University. Her work focuses gender, race, and sexuality in American religious history; religion and American literature and the arts; and the relationship between religion and the secular in American law and public life. She is the author of Culture and Redemption: Religion, the Secular, and American Literature (2006), co-editor of The Puritan Origins of American Sex: Religion, Sexuality and National Identity in American Literature (2001) and Religion, the Secular, and the Politics of Sexual Difference (2013), and General Editor of the North American Religions series at New York University Press. Her essays have appeared in numerous journals, edited collections and anthologies.

